Kennel Club week can be tough on the paws—I've had to walk all over NYC! But it was all worth it when I caught a glimpse of San Francisco hottie Champion Bullwrinkle Casanova Bentley at the 2010 Westminster Kennel Club show at Madison Square Garden. I don't care how many ladies he's been bred with this year—he totally gets my tail wagging!

And as if just sitting and panting over him wasn't enough, his publicist offered me an exclusive one-on-one with the pup. Woof! I only had two minutes to chat him up, but here's what I learned:

1. Champion Bullwrinkle Casanova Bentley relies on Earthbath products to keep his coat all clean and shiny.

2. He does a workout circuit in the backyard (mostly tail chasing and rolling over tricks) to keep the weight off, since bulldogs tend to get a bit hefty when they don't exercise.

3. His best friend is a little girl he calls "Ms. Madison"—that's her in the photo with him. So cute!

I would have rolled onto my back and let him gnaw on my neck all afternoon, but he had to get ready for his show. So I left him and immediately picked up a bottle of Earthbath Waterless Green Tea Grooming Foam For Dogs—you know, so I could keep sniffing his mesmerizing scent. Not only does it smell amazing, it's made from the most natural stuff on the planet, which is definitely something I can get my nose behind.

Did you catch the coverage of the Westminster Kennel Club show on TV? Wasn't Champion Bullwinkle Casanova Bentley dreamy? Have you ever tried any of the natural grooming products from Earthbath?
